Answers for: If No, why not			27 answers
1	29/05/14 1:28PM ID: 10685740	Broadband service in Cottered is barely adequate for domestic use and woefully inadequate for business use. With domestic and business bandwidth needs set to increase exponentially over the next few years, there is a strong case to be made for the council to do something proactively. Waiting for central government or commercial providers to fill the gap will result in Cottered (and other villages) falling further and further behind. Local businesses (such as they are) will suffer and relocate (or fail to start up locally in the first place).
